Judge Michael Kenny of the Sacramento Superior Court ruled Friday on a lawsuit brought by Planned Parenthood advocates against arguments in favor of Proposition 4 to be printed in the Official Voter Information Guide / Voter Pamphlet for the November 4, Presidential election.

The Voter Pamphlet with the arguments and rebuttals is to be sent to over 16 million California voters in more than 12 million households starting on September 24.

Judge Kenny denied every challenge brought by Planned Parenthood's advocates to remove the "Sarah's Law" label and story, and to remove or change other statements and stories about the harm suffered by young girls caused by secret abortions and sexual predators and the benefits of parental notification in more than 30 states which already have parental involvement laws in effect.

The stories included

- A 14-year-old girl on whom Planned Parenthood performed a secret abortion at then, at the request of the adult male predator who brought her in, gave her a shot of Depo-Provera so he could continue having sex with her
- A 13-year-old girl brought to Planned Parenthood for an abortion by the 23-year-old man who raped her. Planned Parenthood did not report the sexual abuse and after the abortion, the 23-year-old impregnated her again, and she underwent another abortion.
- A 12-year-old girl who was given alcohol by an adult male who raped her when she passed out. The rapist's mother took the girl to an abortion clinic and afterwards dumped her 30 miles from home.
- A 14-year-old girl who was lured from home by a 41-year-old predator with promises of drugs and a job and became the older man's sex slave for a year. When she became pregnant, the predator arranged for a Planned Parenthood secret abortion, and Planned Parenthood did not report the victimization.

Three of the five stories involve secret abortions performed on young girls by Planned Parenthood.
